- a) Directing initiates action-Directing is a key managerial function. A manager has to perform this function along with planning, organizing, staffing and controlling while discharging his duties in the organization.
- b) Directing is a continuous activity- It takes place throughout the life of organization irrespective of people occupying managerial positions.

OR

- a) Autocratic or Authoritarian leadership style-An autocratic leader gives orders and expects his subordinates to obey those orders. This leadership style is effective in getting productivity in many situations like in a factory where the supervisor is responsible for production on time and has to ensure labour productivity. Quick decision-making is also facilitated.
- b) Laissez faire or Free-rein leader-Such a leader does not believe in the use of power unless it is absolutely essential.The followers are given high degree of independence to formulate their own objectives or ways to achieve them. The manager is only there to support them and supply them the required information to complete the task assigned.

26	Limitations of using internal sources of recruitment are as follows: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. When vacancies are filled through internal promotions, the scope for induction of fresh talent is reduced. Hence, complete reliance on internal recruitment involves danger of 'inbreeding' by stopping 'infusion of new blood' into the organization. 2. The employees may become lethargic if they are sure of time bound promotions; 3. A new enterprise cannot use internal sources of recruitment. No organisation can fill all its vacancies from internal sources; 4. The spirit of competition among the employees may be hampered; and 5. Frequent transfers of employees may often reduce the productivity of the organisation. OR Commonly used sources of recruiting the employees from outside the organization (any 4) Direct recruitment- A notice is placed on the notice board of the enterprise specifying the details of the jobs available. Job-seekers assemble outside the premises of the organisation on the specified date and selection is done on the spot. It is suitable for filling casual vacancies when there is a rush of work or when some permanent workers are absent. Casual Callers - Many reputed business organizations keep a database of unsolicited applicants in their offices. A list of such job-seekers can be prepared and can be screened to fill the vacancies as they arise. Most of the senior positions of industry as well as commerce are filled by this method. The advantage of advertising vacancies is that more information about the organization and job can be given in the advertisement. Employment exchange- Employment exchange run by a government are a good source of recruitment for unskilled and skilled operative jobs. They help to match personnel demand and supply by serving as a link between job-seekers and employers. Placement Agencies and management consultants- Placement agencies provide a nationwide service in matching personnel demand and supply. Management consultancy firms help the organization to recruit technical, professional and managerial personnel. Campus recruitment-Many big organisations maintain a close liaison with the universities, vocational schools and management institutes to recruit qualified personnel for various jobs. Recommendation of employees – Applicants introduced by present employees, or their friends and relatives may prove to be a good source of recruitment. Such applicants are likely to be good	1 mark each for stating any 4 limitations 1 mark each for stating any 4 external sources employees because their background is sufficiently known.

Labour Contractors – Labour contractors maintain close contacts with labourers and they can provide the required number of unskilled workers at short notice.

Advertising on Television- The detailed requirements of the job and the qualities required to do it are publicized along with the profile of the organization where vacancy exist .

Web publishing- Internet is becoming a common source of recruitment these days. There are certain websites specifically designed and dedicated for the purpose of providing information about both job-seekers and job opening.

- a) Method Study: The objective of method study is to find out one best way of doing the job. There are various methods of doing the job. To determine the best way there are several parameters. Right from procurement of raw materials till the final product is delivered to the customer every activity is part of method study. The objective of the whole exercise is to minimise the cost of production and maximise the quality and satisfaction of the customer. For this purpose, many techniques like process charts and operations research etc., are used.
- b) Motion Study: Motion study refers to the study of movements like lifting, putting objects, sitting and changing positions etc., which are undertaken while doing a typical job. Unnecessary movements are sought to be eliminated so that it takes less time to complete the job efficiently. On close examination of body motions, for example, it is possible to find out: (i) Motions which are productive (ii) Motions which are incidental (e.g., going to stores) (iii) Motions which are unproductive.
- c) Time Study: It determines the standard time taken to perform a well-defined job. Time measuring devices are used for each element of task. The standard time is fixed for the whole of the task by taking several readings. The method of time study will depend upon volume and frequency of the task, the cycle time of the operation and time measurement costs. The objective of time study is to determine the number of workers to be employed; frame suitable incentive schemes and determine labour costs.

OR

- a. Discipline: Discipline is the obedience to organisational rules and employment agreement which are necessary for the working of the organisation. According to Fayol, discipline requires good superiors at all levels, clear and fair agreements and judicious application of penalties.
- b. Order: According to Fayol, "People and materials must be in suitable places at appropriate time for maximum efficiency." The principle of order states that 'A place for everything (everyone) and everything (everyone) in its (her/his) place'. If there is a fixed place for everything and it is present there, then there will be no hindrance in the activities of business/ factory. This will lead to increased productivity and efficiency.
- c. Initiative: Workers should be encouraged to develop and carry out their plans for improvements according to Fayol. Initiative means taking the first step with self-motivation. It is thinking out and executing the plan. Initiative should be encouraged. But it does not mean going against the established practices of the company for the sake of being different. A good company should have an employee suggestion system whereby initiative/ suggestions which result in substantial cost/time reduction should be rewarded.

32	Steps in planning process <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Setting objectives: Objectives or goals specify what the organisation wants to achieve. They give direction to all departments and must be stated clearly. They may be set for the entire organisation and each department within the organisation 2. Developing premises: Planning is concerned with future which is uncertain, therefore manager has to make certain assumptions about future. Assumptions are base material upon which plans are drawn which may be in the form of forecasts, existing plans or past information about policies. 3. Identifying alternative courses of action: Once objectives are set and assumptions are made, next step is to identify alternative courses of action. The course of action may be routine or innovative. An innovative course may be adopted by involving more people and sharing their ideas. OR 1) Planning reduces overlapping and wasteful activities Planning serves as a basis of coordinating the activities and efforts of different divisions, departments and sections. Since planning ensures clarity in thought and action, work is carried out smoothly without interruptions. 2) Planning establishes standards of controlling Planning provides the goals against which actual performance is measured. Through comparison, managers can know whether they are actually able to achieve the goals. Deviations, if any can be corrected. Thus planning is a prerequisite for controlling. The nature of deviations depends upon the extent of deviations from the standard. 3) Planning facilitates decision making Planning helps managers to look into the future and make a choice from amongst various alternative courses of action. The manager has to evaluate each alternate and select the most viable proposition.	2 marks each for explaining first 3 steps 2 marks each for explaining 3 points

34	a) The organisational structure adopted by Diligent Developers is Functional structure . Functional structure is an organisational design that groups similar or related jobs together. b) Benefits of functional structure: 1) It leads to occupational specialization since emphasis is placed on specific functions. This promotes efficiency in utilization of manpower as employees perform similar tasks within a department and are able to improve performance. 2) It promotes control and coordination within a department because of similarity in the tasks being performed. Limitations of functional structure: (a) A functional structure places less emphasis on overall enterprise objectives than the objectives pursued by a functional head. Such practices may lead to functional empires wherein the importance of a particular function may be overemphasised. Pursuing departmental interests at the cost of organisational interests can also hinder the interaction between two or more departments. (b) It may lead to problems in coordination as information has to be exchanged across functionally differentiated departments	a. 1 mark for identification + 1 mark for stating b 2 marks each for stating 2 points of benefits and limitations.
